

IT'S SO VERY WARM

That Grand Rapids Society is at the Resorts.

IT WILL COME TO THE RACES

Next Month, however, in Full Force and Watch the Speedy Thoroughbreds. Gossip of Society.

Excessive heat marked the first of the week and as a result social pleasures were generally merged into street car rides to and from the lake and North park. There was a general exodus for the beach and park and for the northern resorts where the cool breezes from the great lakes invigorate the air. During the languid summer time dancing is too much of an exertion, save at the resorts where the bi-weekly or tri-weekly hop is always largely attended. The lake canoe also invigorate the fair and the gay on pleasant afternoons, when the hand bells of enchanting dance music. The resorts are drawing the crowds now, but with the advent of the races society will return en masse to group about the grand stand and admire pretty horse flesh.

Reception to Miss Barnes.

On Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Beanie A. Barnes of Chicago, a reception was given by Mrs. D. S. Hopkins of Paris avenue. Miss Barnes wore a lovely gown of delicate blue silk crepe, on train, silver and point lace, and diamonds. Mrs. Hopkins wore a white Swiss mull, pink rose and pink net veil. There was music on the piano, cornet, guitar and mandolin, rendered by the following: Miss Clara Heffner, Miss Beanie Walker, H. Kutsche, Misses Wintons and Mrs. Hopkins. All were highly and happily entertained. Afterward a delicious luncheon was served in the dining room. The large square table was a marvel of taste and beauty—fresh green ferns and maiden hair ferns were scattered here and there. Trailing green vines were draped from candlebras, and the soft light from very charming picture. In the midst of the yellow and white damask linen centerpiece was a huge frosted silver bowl, filled with flowers and ferns. There were ferns everywhere, and choice flowers. The party broke up at midnight, and the soft light from the pink narrow ribbons.

Musical at Mrs. Everhart's.

C. W. George Everhart's pleasant residence on the west side was the scene of a pleasant musical, which was given Friday night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Everhart's guests, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Noel and niece, Cora Noel. The original intention had been to hold the musical on the lawn, but the coolness of the evening drove the party indoors. Several orchestral selections were rendered by Herman Kutsche, cornet; Harry Hubbard, clarinet; Mrs. Oscar Wells, violin; and Beanie Walker, piano. Cora Noel, S. F. Hulbert and Mrs. D. S. Hopkins favored the assembly with piano selections and A. Edward Robinson and Mrs. C. W. George Everhart with songs.

THE GRAND RAPIDS SAVINGS BANK.

One of the Solid and Most Successful Institutions of Western Michigan.

The Grand Rapids Savings bank, located at the corner of South Division and Fulton streets, is organized and operated under the general banking law of the state of Michigan as amended to provide for the organization of savings banks, in which every precaution has been taken by the legislature to make such banks safe and reliable places of deposit. One of these provisions gives savings depositors preference over all other creditors. Certificates of deposit in other than savings banks, whether drawing interest or not, are not given this preference.

The capital of the bank is $150,000, all paid in. The stockholders are liable for an additional $150,000, making a fund of $300,000 as a protection to depositors.

The law requires a quarterly report of the condition of the bank, to be made to the state treasurer, and a semi-annual report to be published in some newspaper in the county. It also requires the state treasurer to examine the books from time to time, so that all its transactions are subject to investigation and criticism.

It will be the aim and object of the officers and directors of the Grand Rapids Savings bank to so manage its affairs that no depositor will ever lose a single cent, and will pay over to each and every depositor their money and interest whenever called for. The officers and directors are personally liable to the depositors to the amount of $300,000 should any loss ever occur. This, with the well known business reputation of each and every one of the directors, and their standing in this community, must be to every depositor entirely satisfactory that their interests will be protected to the last farthing.

Those who have unused money and those who desire to save a part of their earnings will find this bank the best place to place what they do not need and let it be earning something. Interest is paid on one dollar or more and all money that remains in the bank three or more calendar months will draw interest for every month and on the first days of January and July all interest due will be credited, and will draw interest the same as a deposit.

There is no safer and better way of getting ahead financially than this and a good time to commence is at once, the very first day of August, 1892.

A New Trade Palace.

Zierlein & Carstens opened yesterday in their new place of business at No. 89 Monroe street. The store is newly fitted with especially designed counters and cases, and the walls and ceiling are resplendent in new tints and rich designs. In its new appointments the store is one of the most attractive in the city, if not, indeed, in the state.

Zierlein & Carstens require no introduction to Grand Rapids purchasers. For twenty years the firm has held a leading place in the jewelry trade of central Michigan. A prime factor in achieving the great popularity which they enjoy has been the invariable rule of handling only the very best of goods.

In no line of trade, perhaps, is the public more dependent upon the merchant than in the jewelry line, and constant honesty and good faith upon the part of the latter is the only shield the public has against ingenious counterfeits and imitations. To such firms as Zierlein & Carstens the public owes a debt of gratitude, and to them a liberal patronage should be extended.

In the new place of business a greatly enlarged stock of jewelry, clocks, watches, silverware, bric-a-brac, etc., etc., will always be found in stock.
